Community Partnership workshops up and running

The first Community Partnerships (CPs) workshops are underway and are taking place during the next few weeks. Community Partnerships are an innovative new way for the Council, partners and communities to work together to 'bring ideas to life' by taking a solution-focussed approach to local priorities.

There are eight CPs based on natural groupings of communities and each will have a £10,000 budget in 2019/20 with £25,000 per year for the next three years to be spent against one or more priority agreed by that Partnership. In addition, there is a strategic budget of £150,000 in 2019/20 and £300,000 a year for the next three years, overseen by the Strategic Community Partnership Board, that CPs can bid into.

Remaining workshop dates:

Felixstowe - Thursday 7 November

Beccles, Bungay and Halesworth - Monday 11 November

Framlingham and Wickham Market - Thursday 14 November

Carlton Colville, Kessingland and Southwold - Wednesday 20 November

Aldeburgh, Leiston and Saxmundham - Thursday 28 November

Changes to carton recycling

Earlier this year, the Suffolk Waste Partnership – which comprises Suffolk County Council and the district and borough councils – took the decision to remove cartons and Tetra-paks from the list of materials that could be placed in household recycling bins. New industry regulations require cartons to be sorted separately from cardboard and cartons should now be taken to local recycling centres. More details about what can and cannot be recycled in household bins can be found here: www.eastsuffolk.gov.uk/features/recycling-in-suffolk/

Gold award of Greenhouse Café

Following an assessment by East Suffolk Council's Food and Safety Team, the Greenhouse Café on Orwell Road in Felixstowe has been given a Gold 'Eat Out, Eat Well' award. This is the highest accreditation available through the 'Eat Out, Eat Well' scheme, run by Public Health Suffolk (Suffolk County Council) and supported by district councils.

The award, which recognises the café's commitment to offering healthier options and promoting the importance of a healthy lifestyle, was presented by Cllr Mary Rudd, Cabinet Member for Community Health.

The scheme, along with its partner scheme designed especially for takeaway businesses 'Take Out, Eat Well', support local businesses in making it easier for customers to buy healthier food and drinks. Businesses who apply for either scheme will receive a visit from the Council's Environmental Health Officers who will inspect the premises and assess against criteria based on the principles of a healthy diet.

Since being launched in 2016, over 40 businesses in East Suffolk have received 'Eat Out, Eat Well' awards with a further 13 businesses in the district receiving 'Take Out, Eat Well' awards.

A new future for the East Anglian fishing industry

The Renaissance of the East Anglia Fisheries (REAF) launched its strategy to rejuvenate the fishing industry along the East Anglian coast in an event hosted by Peter Aldous, MP at Palace of Westminster on 16th October.

The strategy presents a template for revitalising East Anglia's fishing industry and spells out the opportunities presented across all sectors of the industry. It was born of a unique community-led partnership between three local authorities, the local fishing industry, government agencies and a major port operator.

In attendance was Minister of State, George Eustice, MP, Shadow Minister, Luke Pollard, MP, representatives from the fishing industry across East Anglia as well as an assortment of non-government agencies

The REAF project is a partnership between East Suffolk Council, Norfolk County Council, Suffolk County Council, Lowestoft Fish Market Alliance, SEAFISH, Associated British Ports, and New Anglia Local Enterprise Partnership with a wide-ranging number of views and input from across the fishing sector supply chain. It is chaired by Peter Aldous, MP and was founded on the belief that the local fishing industry and the coastal communities in East Anglia should be able to enjoy the benefits of the rich fisheries off their coast.

Cultural Lowestoft – a celebration on the edge!

The first ever Cultural Strategy for Lowestoft was launched at a 'Celebrating Culture on the Edge' event at the Seagull Theatre on 10th October, with speakers from Arts Council England, Historic England and Stephen Baker, Chief Executive of East Suffolk Council.

Celebrating Culture on the Edge is about Lowestoft being creatively edgy, innovative and reaching new audiences. Celebrating Culture on the Edge, A New Dawn is part of the Great Places, Making Waves Together scheme, which is seeing communities and groups in Lowestoft and Great Yarmouth work together to build cultural partnerships, engage new audiences and put arts, heritage and cultures at the heart of the local vision.

The event showcased the amazing work of the sector, including Lowestoft Rising Cultural Education Partnership working with schools and cultural groups to ensure that 10,000 children and young people have access to cultural activities. The Chief Executive from the Marina Theatre provided an insight into the theatre plans over the next five years, in reaching new audiences and diversifying their programming.

The conference, which was attended by over 100 people, was the perfect opportunity to talk about the successes in the cultural sector to date including securing North Lowestoft Heritage Action Zone, which is kickstarting regeneration in the historic High Street, through celebrating and conserving the unique character and heritage of the area.

Dog owner fined for failing to clear up after pet

An East Suffolk resident who failed to clean up after his dog has been made to pay more than £1,000 following a court hearing.

East Suffolk Council brought a prosecution against Mr Anthony Mason for breaching a Public Space Protection Order, under Section 67(1) of the Anti-Social Behaviour Crime and Policing Act 2014.

Mr Mason did not attend the hearing at Ipswich Magistrates' Court on Monday 14th October however the Court granted permission to proceed in his absence and found the offences proved.

Earlier this year, Mr Mason was seen on two separate occasions in Wivesham allowing his dog to foul in a public area without making any attempt to clean up afterwards. Mr Mason was found guilty of two similar offences in 2018 and was ordered to pay £600.

Considering these previous offences, the Council fined Mr Mason £550 for the two most recent offences, as well as £450 in costs and a £30 victim surcharge.

More time for residents to have their say on Southwold Harbour Management Committee

East Suffolk Council is seeking the views on the constitution of the newly formed Southwold Harbour Management Committee and to give people more opportunity to have their say, the consultation period has been extended until Monday 18th November 2019.

Following a historic agreement between Waveney District Council and Southwold Town Council, supported by local harbour users, it was agreed in March 2019 that a new strategic body called the Harbour Management Committee (HMC) would be established to oversee all Southwold Harbour operations. This agreement was designed to ensure that there is more local involvement and engagement in the management and delivery of harbour operations and to safeguard its future.

It was subsequently agreed that further consultation would be required to help establish who, and from which organisations, should form the new Committee.

To take part, anyone can complete an online survey at www.eastsuffolk.gov.uk/southwold-harbour

Changes to carton recycling

Earlier this year, the Suffolk Waste Partnership - which comprises Suffolk County Council and the district and borough councils - took the difficult decision to remove cartons and Tetra-paks from the list of materials that could be placed in household recycling bins. New industry regulations require cartons to be sorted separately from cardboard and it has been decided this is not a viable option.

A full statement from Cllr James Mallinder, East Suffolk's cabinet member for the Environment follows:

"As a council, we are responsible for collecting household recycling bins but we are not solely responsible for deciding what can, and cannot, go into them. These decisions are made alongside the company responsible for processing recycled materials in Suffolk and it is always a balance between maximising what can be collected through household recycling bins and the facilities available for processing certain material streams. Recycling rules apply to every household in the county, not just in East Suffolk.

Recyclable waste collected from household bins goes to the Materials Recycling Facility (MRF) at Great Blakenham, which processes all of the county's recyclables. The MRF is currently undergoing a £15m refurbishment, which began in May. When complete, the MRF will contain state-of-the-art mechanical and optical sorting equipment and will be able to process larger quantities of recyclable waste more quickly.

Prior to May 2019, cartons were recycled alongside general cardboard at the MRF, meaning they were acceptable in household recycling bins. However, new industry regulations now prohibit this and require cartons to be sorted separately. Although cartons account for less than 1% of the material delivered to the MRF, due to their composition, separately sorting them is no longer a viable option.

The Suffolk Waste Partnership (SWP), which comprises all councils in Suffolk, therefore took the difficult decision earlier this year to remove cartons from the list of materials that could be placed in the household recycling bin. However cartons can still be recycled by taking them to any of the 11 Recycling Centres in Suffolk.

This is not a decision made solely by East Suffolk Council, or which only affects East Suffolk residents. We have recently declared a climate emergency and know that recycling, as well as reducing the amount we buy and reusing items where possible, reduces carbon emissions, saves energy and helps protect our planet. As a council, we are working to reduce our own carbon emissions and want to help our residents to take positive action wherever they can.

We appreciate their frustrations at not being able to recycle more through their household bins however there are many items which can be recycled at the Recycling Centre or through local Terracycle schemes and we would urge residents to investigate these. If our residents feel unable to do this, then we would encourage them to consider buying products in alternative packaging.

Cartons are actually one of the hardest items to recycle as they contain both cardboard and plastic. Although the cartons display a recyclable symbol, the producers of these items are choosing to use materials which are difficult to recycle and the Government is working with these producers to make changes."
